

McCord Museum

March School Break Week at the McCord Museum March 2 to 6, 2011

Montreal, January 21, 2011 – The McCord Museum is delighted to offer children (and their parents) a wide range of activities during March break, March 2 to 6, 2011. Staying home is not an option!

The week will begin on Wednesday, March 2, with a day devoted to chess. Children will play on a giant chessboard as they are coached on the basics of this game of strategy. Those aged 8 and up will be invited to join in a simultaneous tournament with a chess master from Chess 'n Math, who will take on multiple players at once! Advance registration is required to participate in the tournament.

On March 3 and 4, the arts will be front and centre at the McCord as part of an inspiring daily program. Our young visitors will have a chance to let their imaginations run wild as they construct a puppet and participate in the creation of a group show.

Wrapping up the week on March 5 and 6, QuéLug (Quebec Lego User Group) will visit the McCord to present a variety of LEGO® models representing hours of playtime and pleasure. Movies will also be shown each day of the week on a continuous loop between 10:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. For a complete listing of the films offered, go to www.mccord-museum.qc.ca, and click on Exhibitions/Toys.

Please note that the price of these activities is included in the regular McCord admission price and that until March 6 admission is free for children aged 12 and under. To register your child in the chess tournament or to obtain more details about March School Break Week at the McCord Museum, please call 514-398-7100, extension 256.

-30-

Source and information:

Nadia Martineau

Marketing-Communications Officer, Public Relations, McCord Museum

514-398-7100, extension 239

nadia.martineau@mccord.mcgill.ca